Convenient location in Banská Bystrica city center with the possibility to park in the area of the faculty.
Faculty of Political Science and International Relations was established in 1995 by the decision of Academic Senate of Matej Bel University in Banská Bystrica. It was a decision derived from the needs to found and establish in Slovakia yet unconventional fields of study – politology, international relations and diplomacy, as a response to the fact that Slovakia needed, after the year 1989, which is connected to the democratization of its political system and its entrance to the international scene, highly-qualified professionals to work in the state and public administration, local governments, as well as for an international cooperation and work in the foreign service.

An innovative idea is always the condition of successful bringing to life of a certain novelty. There was no difference when establishing a separate Faculty of Political Science and International Relations in Banská Bystrica. Negotiations showed that to locate the faculty at two universities is not possible. Under the condition that the government will provide the necessary funds for reconstruction of the building could this faculty became a part of the Matej Bel University. Nowadays it may seem as an implementation of the “utopia”, but in September 1995 new teachers and students entered for the first time into the lecture rooms accompanied by the new administrative staff.

During the year an older building was reconstructed, which is even today considered to be above standard in terms of facilities and not only from the Slovakian point of view, but also in terms of the whole central Europe. How this could be done? It was a vision, courage, systematic strategic approach of Slovak government, university teachers – founders and representatives of the University, town and Banská Bystrica region, who were ensuring everyday operation and perspective of the new faculty. Such strategy brought high effect in an incredibly short time. It was an attempt to apply theory of settling score with countries that were created such schools dozens, maybe even hundreds of years.

Faculty of Political Science and International Relations is one of the major academic workplaces that prepare professionals in the field of multilateral relations, public policy and public administration. Its absolvents successfully represent Slovak republic in the European institutions and in the sphere of international relations.
